It's St. Patrick's Day!

shamrock.gifGet out your shamrocks and your leprechans, and wear something green. This Sunday is the day when everyone is Irish. It's time to drink green beer and insult the British. Then we drink more green beer, maybe some good Irish whiskey, and stumble all the way home down the rocky road to Dublin to have a Guiness.

I'll direct your attention to this thread where it is being discussed where and when the festivities will commence. Anyone who'll be in Halifax on Sunday night is more than welcome to join our "merry band".
