MSN Messenger Virus

I don't know if it's been announced anywhere lately, but I believe there's an MSN Messenger virus floating around out there. Last night, from three different contacts that I rarely talk to, I received file transfers of .pif files called "naked_party.pif" and other crap like that. If that's not a virus, I don't know what is.

Anyway, thought you peeps should be on the lookout for such things. Don't get caught with your pants down.
