Red carpet at the Junos

Through some good fortune, I was able to attend the red carpet ceremony at the Juno awards. I borrowed Ray's camera, which he was nice enough to lend me, and got some fairly decent shots of the musicians as they walked down the red ~~carpet~~ Argyle Street.

If anyone TiVo'ed, or otherwise recorded the red carpet E-Talk Daily portion of the Junos, I would love to get a copy because I was on camera several times, and I want some screenshots ;)

I need your guys' help though. Since I don't have cable TV, I actually had no idea who the people were that I was taking pictures of. I need you guys to help me identify the people in the photos. So please comment on the photos or add notes to them.

The part that sucked was the 4 fucking hours standing out in the cold waiting for the CTV assholes to get the ball rolling. I'm not typically a star-chaser, but the opportunity presented itself, and well, I'm a citizen journalist ;)

And to the fucker in the black hat who was right in front of me blocking the coolest shots I could have taken with his above-the-shoulder hands and his big fat head, you can go to hell.
